

Disclaimer: Removing the Consent Checkbox

Please be advised that disabling the consent checkbox for email collection may lead to non-compliance with certain data protection laws like the GDPR if users are not clearly and explicitly consenting to receive emails. This could expose you to legal risks, including penalties and fines, especially if emails are deemed unnecessary or unsolicited by the recipients. We strongly recommend consulting with legal counsel to understand the implications fully before deciding to remove this feature.